WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

HERE ARE THE RULES.
HOW APPLICANTS FOR OFFICE
WILL BE CONSIDERED.*They Will be Retained Until Their
Commissions Expire or Until
They Have Served a Term of Four Years.

[Cincinnati Tribune.]

From direct statements by President Cleveland, Postmaster-General Allen and other officials of the Golden made during the week to visiting Congressmen, the following code of rules can now be given as those which will govern all appointments to the public service in this country:

1. All incumbents will be retained in office until their commissions expire, unless there is voluntary resignation. When there is no commission, fixing tenure, the new incumbent will be permitted to serve for four years from time of appointment.

2. No one who held office under the former Cleveland Administration will be again appointed to the same office excepting the Postmaster, Mail Clerks and Clerks.

3. No appointments will be made in State having spring State elections until such elections have occurred.

4. All Postmasters and diverse them will be retained excepting instances where, in the fourth-class, the pay is so small that Postmasters will not give undivided time to the postoffice.

5. Appointments will not be made upon magnitude of petitions or otherwise, but upon the character, appearance and evident fitness of the applicant for the place must also be considered.

6. All appointments are of an executive and not of a political character, recommendations by primary election will not prevail.

7. No exception will be made to rule 2 in favor of applicants who were removed from office by the Cleveland Administration before they had served the full term of four years, no matter how brief their services may have been.

Rule 1 does not apply to foreign missions, to the higher grades of Consuls and to the Consul General and Chiefs of Bureaus. It is intended, however, to cover that vast class of postmen included in the Postoffice, Internal Revenue and Customs services.

Rule 2 is fixed and will be made to cover all postmen in the first Cleveland Administration who are still in positions outside of the classified service. The very first appointment made by this Administration was an exception to this rule, as was the knowledge of the classified measure, as well as the name of the President's Private Secretary, and the appointment of the man who was there when Mr. Lamont was Private Secretary. This, however, is insignificant.

Rule 3 is designed to postpone the conditions for office until after full attention has been given to the spring elections. It is felt that bitterness may be engendered among defeated candidates if they are compelled to bring about apathy at the time of the elections. For this reason all candidates are expected to pay their first attention to the elections, and after that to the postoffice.

Rule 4 is intended to discourage the practice of many Congressmen who think primary elections in order to avoid the personal responsibility of recommending one of several candidates.

When the spring primaries are over, however, and generally no account, don't blame the new Postmaster for his action. The Mother's Nursery Guide.

The January number of the MOTHER'S NURSERY GUIDE contains an article on the care of the child's scalp, which great stress is laid on the importance of giving early attention to this matter.

"Some Common Speech Defects in Children" are treated by Dr. J. Collier, and "How to Train a Child" is written by Dr. J. H. Nichols.

The plan appears to be feasible enough to warrant its adoption in districts where unengaged labor could be productive of considerable use.

No man need go in search of a meal who can apply himself to the electrical automatic machine. And the invention might be a profitable enterprise.

Why should not every household be provided with one? Every member of the family might, in the name of exercise, give the handles many a good turn a day—sufficient, if that were possible, to provide electrical energy for the house lighting.

The cracking of the crackle might supersede dumb-bell practice in the morning, and during the summer months it might be possible to store enough electrical energy to tide us over winter.

From the point of view of the man in the street, it would be interesting to know what income he could make in a week by a reasonable expenditure of effort. If only a hundred visits to this University, as it was built for them, I also visited the grave of James K. Polk and read the verse on his tombstone. He is buried in the same cemetery as I am. I was in the Capital and saw the monuments of Morgan and Williamson. They were enshrined in the wall for they were the planners of the Capital. The Salvation Army! What a noise they make! They blow their bugles and blow their horns and beating tambourines and calling themselves Christians and Gentlemen, but they seem to enjoy their religion so much. I was in Nashville six weeks and I enjoyed the visit very much.

SALLIE BENNETT.
[Philadelphia Press.]Lincoln and the Office-Seeker. has been for a year or two a student in his own manner of the career of Lincoln and he is fond of hearing anything which illustrates Lincoln's method. Therefore, I am sure you are interested in the following anecdote, which I believe is entirely new, was listened to him. He had been discussing the offices and the chance of office-seekers, when he turned to me and said, "What do you think of Mr. Lincoln and an office-seeker which may contain a hint." In 1863 after the fall of Vicksburg, a man came to Mr. Lincoln seeking an office. He had been a soldier, a lawyer, a doctor, a writer, fifty fives, had but drifted South. He claimed to have been always a Whig and a Union man, although compelled to hide his sentiment until Vicksburg fell. He was a very poor man and a good one, but he was very poor.

"At last," Mr. Lincoln said to him, "John, when I was a young man, about the time I first went to Springfield to live, I was invited to a dance, and I was very proud to wear it to the dance. Well, I enjoyed myself so much at this time that I bought a new hat, and when I ready to go, I said to the colors man who had charge of the coats and hats: 'Now, John, I wish you would bring my hat.' He brought me along to the dance, and was very proud to wear it to the dance. VAINABLE RECEIPTS.
How to get rid of a rusty screw: Apply a drop of oil to the head, let stand for a short time, then the screwdriver being applied while the screw is hot.

How to preserve eggs: Add 2 pints of slacked lime and a pint of salt to a pailful of water. Pickle your eggs in this fluid, and they will keep for a year. Take a glass of lime juice, add a little of aromatic oil, a dash of sulphate of morphia, mix with a little crocus and apply to the cavity.

How to start a bulky horse: Take the horse out of the shafts and make him go around in a circle until he is dizzy. Then give him a dose of castor oil to make him eat, and a good one to leave it to him, and when I ready to go, I said to the colors man who had charge of the coats and hats: 'Now, John, I wish you would bring my hat.'

How to cure dross goads red: Take an ounce of cochineal, an ounce of muriate of tin and a little cream of tartar dissolved in water enough to cover them. Boil the goods in this preparation for ten minutes.

How the office-seeker did not catch the hint for a moment, but when he did burst out laughing and said that he had forgotten that it was two years since he had any office to offer. He went away, and Mr. Lincoln never saw him again.

Mr. Cleveland laughed heartily at this story and seemed to be greatly impressed with the tact shown by Mr. Lincoln in dealing with a persistent office-seeker.

Election Notice.

Pursuant to an order of the Ohio County Court, there will be opened a poll in both the voting precincts in Hartford, Ky., on the second day of May, 1893, between 4 p.m. and 4 p.m., to take the sense of the legal voters in said town on the question whether or not the local law now in force prohibiting the sale of spirituous, vinous, and malt liquors in said town, shall become inoperative.
